MAIN FEATURES

Final estimates of short-term visitor arrivals in the month of December 1979 show an increase of 16 per cent over the same figure for December 1978, with a large proportion of the increase being in visitors from the USA, Germany and the UK and Ireland. The majority of short-term visitor arrivals stated their purpose of journey as being "visiting relatives" or "holiday".

The number of Australian residents departing overseas for an intended stay of less than twelve months decreased, in comparison to December 1978, by 3 per cent, with a notable decrease in the "visiting relatives" and "holiday" categories, and in travel to New Zealand.

Month-to-month comparisons of this nature are subject to variations caused by alterations to air-fare structures, holiday periods and other effects. Care should be exercised in the interpretation of data of this kind.

of Immigration and Ethnic Affairs. Revised figures for some months of 1979 are also contained in this publication. Provisional estimates are expected to be quickly superseded by better based statistics.
