

SALES OF AUSTRALIAN WINE AND BRANDY BY WINEMAKERS, JULY 1994

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

DOMESTIC WINE SALES

Domestic sales

The trend series for total domestic wine sales grew by 1.1 per cent between June and July 1994, following a 1.3 per cent increase between May and June 1994. This is now the seventh month of trend growth following declining trend sales between June and December 1993.

The trend growth has weakened slightly with seasonally adjusted sales falling by 13.7 per cent during July 1994 to 26.2 million litres, after an increase of 16.7 per cent in June 1994. Seasonally adjusted sales would have to increase in August 1994 by at least 13 per cent (nearly double the average monthly movement) to stop the trend from flattening out. Readers are reminded that recent trend estimates are provisional and could change when data for future months become available.

In original terms, total domestic sales rose by 7.7 per cent during July 1994 to 29.7 million litres. This was also a 1.0 per cent increase on July 1993. All three major wine styles; table, fortified and sparkling, showed an increase in wine sales for July 1994.

Exports

A total of 9.9 million litres of wine was exported from Australia in June 1994, with a value of $364.9 million. In terms of volume, exports were 5.5 per cent less than for May 1994 and 14.5 per cent less than for June 1993.

Exports for the 1993-94 financial year exceeded the one hundred million litre mark for the second consecutive year with 124.1 million litres valued at $364.9 million exported. This represents an increase of 20.7 per cent in the volume and 24.5 per cent in the value of exports when compared with 1992-93. Exports of table wine (making up nearly 93% of all wine exports) increased by 19.9 million litres, or 20.8 per cent. Sparkling wine exports increased by 6.2 per cent and exports of other wine increased by 13.9 per cent. Fortified wine exports reversed last years sharp fall with a 55.2 per cent increase over the 1992-93 quantity.

Exports to the Northeast Asia region during 1993-94 increased by 51.1 per cent, the largest percentage increase of any region. All regions recorded a rise in exports, with the more significant increases being Oceania (36.7%), Europe

(17.0%), Middle East (14.6%) and North America (12.8%). Europe still receives the largest share of Australia's wine exports in terms of volume, with 58.1 per cent of total exports, followed by Oceania (20.1%) and North America (14.9%).

The United Kingdom received 47.1 million litres of Australian wine in 1993-94 and together with Sweden's 15.3 million litres they represent 86.6 per cent of exports to the European region. New Zealand received 23.3 million litres, 93.5 per cent of wine exports to the Oceania region. The North American export market is comprised of the United States of America, 11.5 million litres, and Canada with 6.9 million litres. These countries represent the top five export destinations for Australian wine.

Imports

In the 1993-94 financial year Australia imported 8.3 million litres of wine, a rise of 0.5 million litres or 6.5 per cent when compared with 1992-93. The value of wine imported in 1993-94 was $47.6 million, an increase of 1.4 per cent when compared with 1992-93.

A comparison of domestic wine sales (original data) for the seven months ended July 1993 and 1994 follows. Care should be exercised when interpreting year-to-date figures as measures of trend growth because year-to-date figures do not accurately reflect changes in trend sales. See paragraph 12 in Explanatory Notes.

For the seven months ended July 1994, domestic sales of Australian wine by winemakers were marginally lower (by 0.2%) on the corresponding period in 1993.

The following highlight major movements within the various wine types:

- White table wine sales decreased 0.6 per cent, with an increase in sales of bottled wine (9.2%) offset by a decrease in wine sold in other containers (3.5%).
- Red table wine sales increased by 5.0 per cent, with an increase in sales of bottled wine of 14.2 per cent but a 2.6 per cent decrease in red wine sold in other containers.
- Sparkling wine sales were down by 3.8 per cent.
- Sales of fortified wine fell by 3.6 per cent.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Introduction

The information shown in this publication for wine sales is obtained directly from winemakers by means of a mail collection. The brandy sales figures shown represent quantities on which excise duty was paid, i.e. the quantity of brandy released for sale. Statistics relating to exports and import clearances are based on information provided to the Australian Customs Service by importers, exporters and their agents.

Scope and coverage

2. The information on wine is obtained from winemaking enterprises with wine sales of 250,000 litres or more in the previous financial year. These account for approximately 97 per cent of total wine sales.

3. Tables 1-3 include all sales by winemakers (within the scope of the collection) with the exception of exports, sales for ships' stores, sales of imported wine and brandy and inter-winery sales, the last exclusion being necessary to avoid duplication in the published figures. Figures relating to foreign trade in wine and brandy are presented in Table 4 to provide a basis for assessing the overall Australian wine market.

4. Imports cleared for home consumption comprise those goods entered for home consumption, together with goods cleared from Customs warehouses. Exports of Australian produce are defined as exports of goods, materials or articles which have been produced, manufactured or partly manufactured in Australia.

5. Commencing with April 1992, the timing basis for the compilation of merchandise exports statistics has been changed. The change involves compiling exports statistics on the basis of goods shipped in any period rather than the basis of the documentation of goods shipped in that or earlier periods. In the past only about half of shipments were recorded in the month of shipment, the remainder recorded in subsequent months. The effect of the change is significant on monthly data but marginal on annual data. For more information about the changed basis of compilation refer to publication Foreign Trade Australia: Merchandise Exports, April 1992. (5432.0)

6. All sales data are collected on an Australia-wide basis only and State figures are therefore not available.

7. The wine content of products consisting of a mixture of wine and fruit juice, commonly known as 'coolers', is included in the appropriate category of wine from which it is made, which is generally table wine. Where a wine is categorised by container type (i.e. table wine) the wine content of 'coolers' is included in the 'bulk' figure.

Seasonally adjusted and trend estimates

8. Seasonal adjustment is a means of removing the estimated effects of normal seasonal variation from the series so that the effects of other influences can be more clearly recognised. Seasonal adjustment does not remove from the series the effect of irregular influences (e.g. abnormal weather and industrial disputes).

9. The smoothing of seasonally adjusted series to create trend estimates is a means of reducing the impact of the irregular component of the series. The trend estimates of wine sales have been derived by applying a 13-term Henderson-weighted moving average to the seasonally adjusted series.

10. While this smoothing technique enables estimates of trend to be produced for the latest month, it does result in revisions to the estimates for the most recent months as data for subsequent months become available. Generally subsequent revisions become smaller and after 3 months have a negligible impact on the series. There will also be revisions as a result of revisions to the original series and periodic reviews of seasonal factors. The latest review, in September 1993, revised seasonally adjusted and trend monthly series back to July 1975.

11. Users may wish to refer to the ABS Information Papers A Guide to Smoothing Time Series - Estimates of 'Trend' (1316.0) and Time Series Decomposition - An Overview (1317.0) for more detailed information on smoothing of seasonally adjusted time series data.

12. Care should be exercised when interpreting year-to-date figures as measures of trend growth. Due to their temporal phase-shifting properties, year-to-date measures are not always useful for detecting turning points in the data. In particular, these measures are not responsive to more recent trend changes and can be indicative of more historical growth patterns. A further deficiency is that with each additional month of data, the extent of smoothing implicit in the year-to-date measure varies, giving for each month a different form of trend estimate. That is, the degree of smoothing after 3 months will be different to that achieved with 10 months of data. It is possible that the year-to-date measure will suggest results that do not accord with the ABS trend estimate, which is a much more timely indicator of recent trend behaviour.

Related publications

13. Other ABS publications which may be of interest include:

Manufacturing Production, Australia, Food, Drink, Tobacco, Stock and Poultry Food (8359.0) - issued quarterly, contains production statistics for wine based mixed drinks ('coolers').

Wine Production: Australia and States (8366.0) - includes stocks of Australian wine and brandy held by winemakers.

14. Current publications produced by the ABS are listed in the Catalogue of Publications and Products Australia (1101.0). The ABS also issues, on Tuesdays and Fridays, a Publications Advice (1105.0) which lists publications to be released in the next few days. The Catalogue and Publications Advice are available from any ABS office.
