PART III.—POPULATION.

Quarterly estimates of population.

218. Between the census periods an estimate of the population of the colony is made up quarterly by the Government Statist from the returns of births and deaths and of arrivals and departures. At the end of 1874 the population estimated in this manner was as follows:—

^{*} The latest estimate of population up to the time of this work going to press was for the 30th June 1875, and was as follows: -Males 441,742, females 371,846; total 813,588.

- 220. The increase of population during 1874 amounted to 17,945. Increase of Of this increase, 14,578, or more than four-fifths, resulted from excess 1874, of births over deaths; 3,367, or less than a fifth, was due to excess of immigration over emigration.
- 221. The increase of population was less than in any year of the Increase of population, previous ten years, except 1866 and 1867, as will be seen by the 1864-1874. following figures:—

- 222. The proportions of the sexes in 1874 were the same as they Males and were in 1873, viz., 84 females to 100 males, or 119 males to 100 females.
- Aborigines numbered about 5,000. When Victoria became an independent colony, in 1851, the number was officially stated to be 2,693. According to the report of the Central Board for the Protection of the Aborigines, dated 15th May 1875, the numbers now amount to 1,553. The number of either sex is not given in the Board's estimate, but taking the proportions obtaining at the census of 1871,* when, however, it was found impossible to enumerate all the Aborigines, the males should number 915 and the females 638.
- 224. The Board reports that 557 Aborigines, viz., 302 males and 255 Attempt to females, or more than a third, are living on Aboriginal stations, which rigines. are under the control and partial support of the Government. The remainder wander about the colony at large. Every effort is made to induce them to pursue profitable employments, and the education of the young is attended to. They are trained to labor, but they are also taught reading, writing, and arithmetic, and they are, as a rule, apt scholars.
- 225. The amount spent by the Government on the Aborigines during Expenditure the year 1874 was £7,797, of which £4,900 was expended on clothing gines. and provisions.
- 226. The estimated gross value of the produce raised on Aboriginal Produce raised by stations during the year was £2,644. The most profitable article Aborigines. produced was hops, of which over $8\frac{1}{4}$ tons, valued at £1,780, were grown on one station.

Immigration and emigration, 1874.

Excess of immigration

228. The excess of immigration over emigration was less in 1874 over emigra- than in any year of the previous decenniad, except 1867, 1872, and This will be seen by the following figures:—

Adults, children, and infants arriving and departing.

230. It is the custom of the immigration authorities to classify the immigrants and emigrants as adults, or those from 12 years of age upwards; as children, or those between 1 year of age and 12 years; and as infants, or those under 1 year. Adopting this classification, adults arriving exceeded those departing by 3,841, but children and infants taken away from the colony exceeded those brought there by 169 and 305 respectively.

Arrivals from and departures to various

231. The increase of population by excess over departures to, of arrivals from, the United Kingdom was 1,415; from Tasmania it was 3,769, from New Zealand and the South Seas it was 166, and from foreign ports it was 108. The decrease by excess of departures to New South Wales and Queensland was 1,404, and to South and Western Australia it was 687.

Assisted immigration.

- Arrivals and departures of Chinese.
- 232. The only assisted immigration which took place in the year under review was that of 64 male and 85 female "warrant passengers."
- 233. The arrivals of Chinese in the year numbered 386, viz., 377 The departures of Chinese numbered 531, viz., males and 9 females. 530 males and 1 female. The excess of departures of Chinese males was therefore 153, and the excess of arrivals of Chinese females was 8.

- 234. The mining population, according to an estimate made by the Mining population, 1874. Secretary for Mines, numbered 45,151. Of these, 30,678, or 68 per cent., were working in alluvial mines, and 14,473, or 32 per cent., in quartz reefs; 32,971, or 73 per cent. of the number, were Europeans, and 12,180, or 27 per cent., were Chinese. All the Chinese except 124 were employed in alluvial mining.
- 235. The following figures give the numbers of the mining population, 1864lation for each year of the decenniad prior to the year under review. 1874. It will be observed that a gradual falling off has been taking place, with but little interruption, over the whole period:—

Geelong, then the second place in point of importance in the colony, was incorporated as a town on the 12th October 1849, under Act 13 Vict. No. 40.

237. But on the 29th December 1854 an Act was passed (18 Vict. Act for creating No. 15) providing that any place in Victoria, of a certain limited size, municipalities. containing a given number of inhabitants, might be erected into a municipality upon the petition of a stated number of its resident house-The proclamation of district road boards had previously been provided for on the 8th February 1853, under Act 16 Vict. No. 40. Out of these two systems of local self-government have sprung the present municipal institutions in Victoria.

238. The existing municipal bodies are of two kinds, the first being Local Govcalled cities, towns, or boroughs, and the second shires. Both these Statute. bodies are regulated under the Local Government Act (38 Vict. Each municipal district No. 506), and are called municipal districts.* is a body corporate, with perpetual succession and a common seal, and is capable of suing and being sued, purchasing, holding, and alienating land, &c.

^{*} Up to the end of 1874, a portion of the present shires were, under former Acts, called road districts. The powers these were entitled to exercise were somewhat less than those of shires. The Local Government Act, which came into force on the 1st January 1875, superseded former Acts, and constituted all the then road districts shires. The former have therefore been treated and alluded to as shires in the following paragraphs.

Cities, towns, and boroughs,

239. A borough must not be of a greater area than nine square miles, and, on being constituted, must have a population of inhabitant householders of not less than three hundred. No point within its limits must be more than six miles distant from any other point. Any borough having a gross revenue of not less than £10,000 may be declared by the Governor in Council a town, and any one having a gross revenue of not less than £20,000 may be declared by the Governor in Council a city.

Shires.

240. Portions of country containing rateable property capable of yielding, upon a rate not exceeding one shilling in the pound on the annual value thereof, a sum of £500, may be proclaimed as shires.

241. The Governor in Council may subdivide any municipal district Subdivision 241. The Governor in Council may subdivide any of municipal districts. into any number of subdivisions not exceeding eight.

Number of councillors.

242. The number of councillors in a municipality is fixed by the Governor in Council. It must, by the Statute, be some multiple of 3, and must not be less than 6 or more than 24. The number is usually If the district is subdivided, the number of councillors is 3 for each subdivision.

Qualification of coun-cillors.

243. Male persons liable to be rated in respect of property of the rateable value of £20 at least in any municipal district are qualified to hold the office of councillor. Being a contractor or the holder of any office of profit under the council, being an uncertificated or undischarged bankrupt or insolvent, or being convicted or attainted of felony, perjury, or any infamous crime, renders a person incapable of being or continuing to be a councillor.

Election of councillors.

244. The election of councillors takes place annually. A third part of the councillors retires each year by rotation, but retiring councillors may be re-elected.

Chairman of council.

245. The councillors elect their own chairman, who in the case of boroughs is called the mayor; in the case of shires, the president. The chairman becomes a justice of the peace by virtue of his office, during the time he holds such office and one year longer.

Qualification of electors.

246. Every person (male or female), of 21 years of age or upwards, liable to be rated in respect of property within a municipal district, is entitled to be enrolled as a voter, provided the rates on such property have been duly paid.

Plurality of votes.

247. Plurality of votes for the election of councillors is allowed upon the following scale:—

In Boroughs.

- 251. General rates are made and levied once at least in every year General and on all the rateable property in each municipal district. They must not rates. be more than 2s. 6d. or less than 6d. in the pound of the net annual value of such property. Separate rates in addition, not exceeding 6d. in the pound, may, by consent of one-third of the ratepayers in a particular portion of the district, be levied upon the property within such portion, for the execution of works intended for its special benefit.

252. In the year 1874, including Melbourne and Geelong, there were Municipal 60 cities, towns, and boroughs and 110 shires in existence. The area, 1874. estimated population, number of ratepayers, and estimated number of dwellings they contained were as follow:—

It therefore houses in follows that five sixths of the area of the colony is contained within the ties. limits of municipal districts, and twenty-nine thirtieths of its inhabitants enjoy the benefits of local self-government. The houses in Victoria have not been enumerated since 1871. At that time the number of edifices of all descriptions amounted to 158,481. The houses in municipal districts, therefore, now exceed by 10,733 the whole number returned at the census.

Naturalization. 261. Letters of naturalization are granted to aliens residing in Victoria, upon their taking an oath of allegiance to the Crown before any judge or police magistrate, as prescribed by an Act of the Legislature (26 Vict. No. 166). But without becoming naturalized, alien friends resident in the colony may acquire real and personal property, and may convey, devise, and bequeath it in the same manner as if they had been natural-born subjects of Her Majesty. Alien women, being married to British subjects, thereby become naturalized. Electoral provinces.

262. The number of districts and members for the representation of the Upper House, or Legislative Council, remains the same as when the Constitution Act became law. The districts are called provinces. Of these there are six, each of which returns five members. A member for each province retires every two years, but is eligible for re-election.

Qualification of members of Legislative Council.

263. The qualification of members and electors of the Upper House was reduced by the Act 32 Vict. No. 334, which came into force on the 1st January 1869. The qualification of a member now is that he be of the full age of 30 years, a natural-born subject of the Queen, and possessed of freehold property in Victoria of the value of £2,500 absolute or £250 annual value, above all charges or encumbrances affecting the same. Judges and ministers of religion are incapable of being elected, as also are criminals.

- 264. The qualification of an elector is that he be at least 21 years of qualification age, a natural-born or naturalized subject of Her Majesty, and be Legislative possessed of freehold or leasehold property or be the occupier of property as a tenant rated in some municipal district or districts within the province at not less than £50 a year. Graduates of any university in the British dominions, matriculated students of the Melbourne University, members of the learned professions, certificated teachers, military and naval officers, have also a right to vote at the election of members of the Legislative Council in the province in which they reside.
- 265. The number of members of the Lower House, or Legislative Number of Assembly, was increased on the 17th December 1858, by Act 22 Vict. Legislative No. 64, from 60, as named in the Constitution Act, to 78, who are returned for 49 districts. Of these districts, 4 are represented by three members, 21 by two members, and 24 by one member.

- 266. That part of the Constitution Act providing for a property No property qualification of members of the Legislative Assembly was repealed on the 27th August 1857, by Act 21 Vict. No. 12. The only qualification now necessary for a member is that he be either a natural-born subject of the Queen, or an alien legally naturalized for the space of five years and resident in Victoria for the space of two years, and that he be of the full age of 21 years.
- 267. The property qualification of electors for the Legislative Universal Assembly, provided for by the Constitution Act, was abolished by the Act 21 Vict. No. 33. Since then, universal manhood suffrage has obtained so far as this House is concerned.

268. The number of electors on the roll of the two Houses of Legis- Electors on the rolls. lature at the end of the year under review was as follows:—
