The first, a proposal to alter the Constitution so that the number of members of the House of Representatives might be increased without necessarily increasing the number of Senators, was defeated, a majority in favour of the proposed law having been obtained in one State only, New South Wales. The other, a proposal to alter the Constitution so as to omit from paragraph xxvi. of section 51 the words 'other than the aboriginal race in any State' and to repeal section 127 so that Aborigines are to be counted in reckoning the population, was approved, a majority in favour of the proposed law having been obtained in each State. See page 66 for requirements for alteration of the Constitution.

A summary of the results of the voting on each of these proposals follows.

CHAPTER 7. THE TERRITORIES OF AUSTRALIATrust Territory of Nauru, page 155

A statement by the Minister for Territories in the House of Representatives on 24 October 1967 outlined proposals made by the Nauruan delegation (during discussions on the constitutional future of Nauru, between representatives of the Nauruan people and of the Governments of Britain, New Zealand and Australia) seeking the agreement of the partner Governments to Nauru's becoming an independent State on 31 January 1968; the alternative arrangements put forward for consideration by the three Governments; and the reaction thereto of the Nauruan delegation. The statement continued: the partner Governments would respect the views put forward by the Nauruan delegation and were agreeable to meet its request for full and unqualified independence; the date on which Nauru would become independent required consideration in view of what was necessary to enable the change to be made; and the three Governments had agreed to take steps to seek from the United Nations General Assembly a resolution for the termination of the Trusteeship agreement upon independence being achieved.

A Bill for the Nauru Independence Act 1967 was introduced in the House of Representatives on 26 October 1967 so that on and after Nauru Independence Day Australian law would cease to apply. The Act was assented to on 10 November 1967.

CHAPTER 8. POPULATIONGeneral characteristics of the population, page 181

Particulars of characteristics from June 1966 census results are being published in mimeograph form in Census Bulletins for each State and Territory and for Australia. Summarised information is shown on pages 1297-1305 of this Appendix.

CHAPTER 11. LABOUR, WAGES AND PRICESSurveys of wage rates, earnings and hours*Surveys of Weekly Earnings and Hours, page 327

A Survey of Weekly Earnings and Hours was conducted in October 1966, and the results were published in a mimeographed bulletin issued on 3 May 1967.

Basic wages in AustraliaNational Wage Cases of 1967, page 344

Two benches of the Commonwealth Conciliation and Arbitration Commission commenced hearing on 4 April 1967 applications by trade unions and employers. Three matters were before the Commission, namely, an application by unions for an increased basic wage, an application by employers for a total wage, and an application by unions for an increase in margins. The last two matters were part heard (see Basic Wage, Margins and Total Wage Cases of 1966, pages 343-4) when the unions' basic wage application was made and were listed before the Commission on the application of the employers so that all three might be considered together.

The Presidential bench dealing with the basic wage application comprised Kirby C.J., Gallagher and Moore JJ. and the reference bench dealing with the remaining matters comprised Gallagher and Moore JJ. and Commissioner Winter.

The unanimous decisions of the two benches were made in the form of a pronouncement by the President of the Commission (Kirby C.J.) on 5 June 1967. The pronouncement concluded with the following orders.

'Each bench will make formal orders in these proceedings. The Commission in Presidential Session will formally dismiss the unions' application for an increase in the basic wage. On behalf of the reference bench I announce the elimination of basic wages and margins and the introduction of total wages. The total wages will be arrived at by adding an amount of $1 per week to the weekly award wages of all adult males and females, but no employee is to receive the increase twice. By virtue of existing award provisions male and female juniors including apprentices will receive proportionate increases. The increase will also be added to the minimum standard for adult males introduced in July 1966. The necessary variation will come into operation from the beginning of the first pay period to commence on or after Saturday, 1 July 1967 . . . '

State basic wages, etc., pages 346-50

Subsequent to increases in Commonwealth awards as a result of the National Wage Cases of 1967 (see above), award wages in State awards, etc. were also increased as follows.

New South Wales. Award rates of wages and salaries for adult males and adult females were increased by the addition of a fixed loading of $1 per week described as 'July 1967 economic loading' to take effect from the beginning of the first pay-period to commence on or after 1 July 1967.

Victoria. Wage rates for adult males and adult females in most Wages Board determinations were increased by $1 per week from 1 July 1967. Basic wages and margins were deleted from determinations and wage rates expressed as total wages.

Queensland. Award rates of pay for both adult males and adult females were increased by $1 per week to operate from 3 July 1967.

South Australia. The 'living wages' for both adult males and adult females were increased by $1 per week to operate from 3 July 1967.

Western Australia. The decision of the Industrial Commission was that the minimum weekly wage payable to adult male workers under certain awards be increased from $36.55 to $37.55; 'that the wage rates for adult workers not in receipt of the "minimum wage" be increased by 60 cents per week; and that other wage rates be adjusted as if the basic wage for males and the basic wage for females had been increased by that amount.' These increases were declared to operate from the beginning of the first pay-period commencing on or after 1 July 1967.

Tasmania. The chairman of Tasmanian Wages Boards announced on 4 July that a $1 per week increase in basic wage rates for adult males and adult females would be incorporated in Wages Boards determinations beginning in July 1967.

CHAPTER 16. PUBLIC HEALTH

Public health legislation and administration

Australian Capital Territory, page 550

An A.C.T. Hospital Advisory Committee has been established consisting of five members appointed by the Minister for Health. The functions of the Committee are to advise the Minister for Health with regard to the future development of hospitals in the A.C.T. for all types of patients; the co-ordination of the activities of such hospitals and related services; and measures to ensure efficient and economic utilisation of such services.

The Committee has been set up in view of the development in the A.C.T. of a multiple hospital system. For this reason also the composition of the Canberra Community Hospital Board has been changed to a Management Board of five members nominated by the Minister for Health. The change became effective from 1 October 1967. The functions of the new Management Board, subject to the directions of the Minister, are to provide general oversight of the management of the affairs of the hospital; provide facilities for the treatment of patients as required; appoint such staff as is necessary; submit for approval an annual financial and staff budget and operate the hospital within the approved budget; and make by-laws for the conduct of the administration of the hospital.
