MAIN FEATURES

Short-term visitor arrivals in January 1986 (98,000) increased by 19% over the corresponding month in 1985 (82,600), continuing the trend of increased short-term arrivals since September 1984. In January 1986 there were 19,280 permanent and long-term arrivals, 17% more than in January 1985 (16,440) and 10,700 permanent and long-term departures, 2% more than in January 1985 (10,450).

Short-term visitor arrivals and resident departures

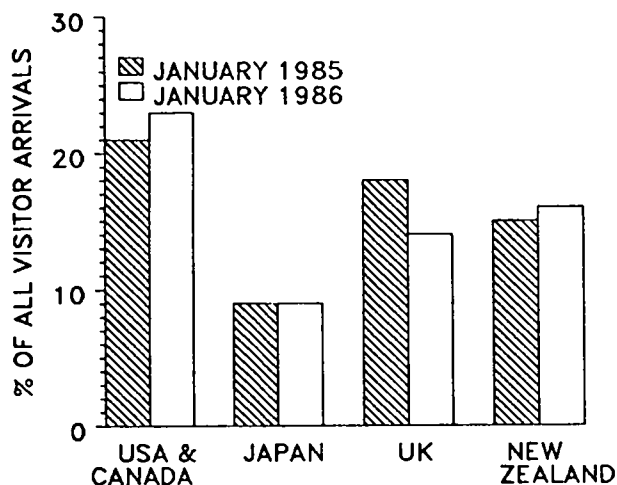

Short-term arrivals of visitors and resident departures by country of residence or intended stay

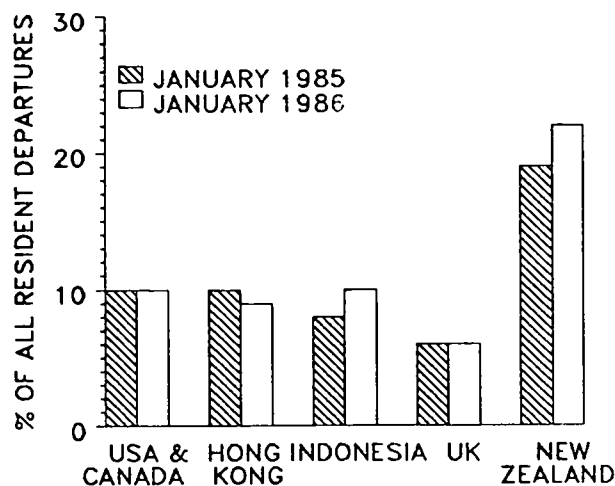

In January 1986, 23% of short-term visitor arrivals came from the USA and Canada (22,300), 16% from New Zealand (15,500), 15% from the UK and Ireland (14,500) and 9% from Japan (8,800). Compared with the same month one year ago, the total number of short-term visitor arrivals from the USA and Canada increased by 32% (16,900 in January 1985), 23% from New Zealand (12,600 in January 1985), 17% from Japan (7,500 in January 1985) and decreased by 6% from the UK and Ireland (15,400 in January 1985).

SHORT TERM VISITOR ARRIVALS, BY COUNTRY OF RESIDENCE

SHORT TERM RESIDENT DEPARTURES, BY COUNTRY OF INTENDED STAY

22% of short-term resident departures in January 1986 were to New Zealand (23,000), 10% to USA and Canada (10,100), 10% to Indonesia (10,400), 9% to Hong Kong (8,900) and 7% to the UK and Ireland (6,900). Compared with January 1985, the total number of short-term resident departure movements increased by 27% to Indonesia (8,200 in January 1985) and 17% to New Zealand (19,600 in January 1985); however the number of movements to Hong Kong showed a decrease of 7% (9,600 in January 1985).

Settlers arrivals by area of birth

8,120 settler arrivals were recorded in January 1986, 38% more than in January 1985 (5,870), continuing the increase in settler arrivals since July 1984 compared with the same month one year ago. 3,040 settlers born in Asia arrived in January 1986, 27% more than in January 1985 (2,390). Settlers born in Asia comprised 37% of all settler arrivals in January 1986 compared with 40% in January 1985. 2,150 settlers born in Europe arrived in January 1986, 32% more than in January 1985 (1,630), and they comprised 27% of all settler arrivals compared with 28% in January 1985. Settlers born in the UK and Ireland continued to comprise more than half of the settlers born in Europe. Settlers born in Oceania (principally New Zealand) have continued to increase, from 1,060 in January 1985 to 1,690 in January 1986, an increase of 59%, and comprised 21% of all settler arrivals in January 1986.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Introduction

This series of publications contains statistics of overseas arrivals and departures in summary form for the latest available month during which the movement occurred. More detailed statistics can be made available, on request, in unpublished form.

Scope

2. The statistics in this publication relate to the number of movements rather than the number of travellers (i.e. the multiple movements of individual persons during a given reference period are each counted separately). The statistics exclude the movements of operational air and ships' crew, of transit passengers who pass through Australia but are not cleared for entry, and of passengers on pleasure cruises commencing and finishing in Australia aboard ships not then engaged on regular voyages.

Definitions

Category of movement

3. Category of movement is primarily determined by the traveller's selection of his or her own category on the passenger card. This selection is accepted provided it is consistent with other information on the passenger card.

Permanent movement

4. Permanent arrivals (settlers) comprises travellers who hold migrant visas, regardless of stated intended period of stay, New Zealand citizens who indicate an intention to settle and those who are otherwise eligible to settle (e.g. overseas born children of Australian citizens). Permanent departures are Australian residents (including former settlers) who on departure state they do not intend to return to Australia.

Long-term movement

5. Long-term arrivals comprises overseas visitors (except those who hold migrant visas—see paragraph 4 above) who intend to stay in Australia for 12 months or more and Australian residents returning after an absence of 12 months or more overseas. Long-term departures comprises Australian residents who intend to stay abroad for 12 months or more and overseas visitors departing who stayed 12 months or more in Australia.

Short-term movement

6. Movements of travellers whose intended or actual length of stay is less than twelve months are classified as short-term, except those who on arrival hold migrant visas (see paragraph 4 above).

7. A significant number of travellers state exactly 12 months or one year as their intended period of stay. Many of them stay for less than that period and on their departure from, or return to, Australia are therefore classified as short-term. To maintain consistency between arrivals and departures, movements of travellers who report their actual or intended period of stay as being one year exactly are randomly allocated to long-term or short-term, in proportion to the number of movements of travellers who report their actual length of stay as up to one month more, or one month less, than one year.

Country of birth or residence

8. The grouping of countries into regions in Asia in Table 2 is based on United Nations' classification of world regions. Applying this classification, the region which includes most 'middle east' countries is included in Asia and is called 'Western Asia (Middle East)'. The Appendix to the December 1985 issue of this publication contains a detailed list of countries included in the various regions of Asia.

9. Statistics on country of birth or residence have certain limitations because of inadequate reporting on passenger cards. For instance, it is not possible to make a distinction between Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland, or to separately identify England, Scotland and Wales. Similarly 'Germany' could refer to the Federal Republic or to the Democratic Republic.

Estimation method

10. Overseas arrival and departure statistics are derived from a combination of full enumeration and sampling. All movements by sea regardless of duration of stay, all permanent movements and all movements with a duration of stay of one year or more are fully enumerated and processed. All movements by air with a duration of stay of less than one year are sampled and statistics relating to these movements are therefore estimates which may differ from statistics which would have been obtained if details of all these movements had been processed.

11. The statistics in this publication have been rounded to a level consistent with their general validity. The sums of the components may, due to rounding, not add exactly to totals.

Corrections and imputations

12. The imprecision due to sampling errors should not be confused with errors arising from imperfections in reporting, which may occur in any data collection, whether sampled or not. Every effort is made to minimise such errors, both through careful design of the passenger cards and through checks on the information once it is received. During the edit process some items are corrected where they conflict with other known information. Missing replies to certain items such as age and country of birth are also imputed by reference to other related items.

13. Errors of this kind differ from discrepancies arising from the fact that certain information reflects the travellers intentions, or in the case of settler arrivals the fact that the traveller holds a migrant visa, at the time the passenger cards were completed. These intentions are of course subject to change. Particularly affected are the distinction between permanent and temporary movement and in the latter case, length of intended stay, country in which most time will be spent and purpose of journey.
