

MANUFACTURING PRODUCTION, AUSTRALIA
JANUARY 1995

NOTES

This publication presents monthly and quarterly estimates of selected major indicators of manufacturing production for Australia. The following adjustments have been made to data in this issue: (i) Seasonally adjusted estimates of production of textile floor coverings have been revised and new seasonal factors calculated. (ii) Trend estimates of production of tobacco and biscuits have been calculated to discount extraordinary movements in January 1995 seasonally adjusted estimates. Please refer to the Explanatory Notes at the back of this publication.

The inclusion of twenty four new items in this issue makes the data contained in this publication more representative of the manufacturing industry. Nineteen contain monthly estimates where available and five are published on a quarterly basis. Data for some of these items are not yet available, but are expected to be included in the February 1995 issue.

SENSITIVITY ANALYSIS

Where seasonally adjusted series are known to be highly erratic, an analysis of how sensitive the current trend estimates are to additional data can be useful. Such analysis is referred to as 'sensitivity analysis'.

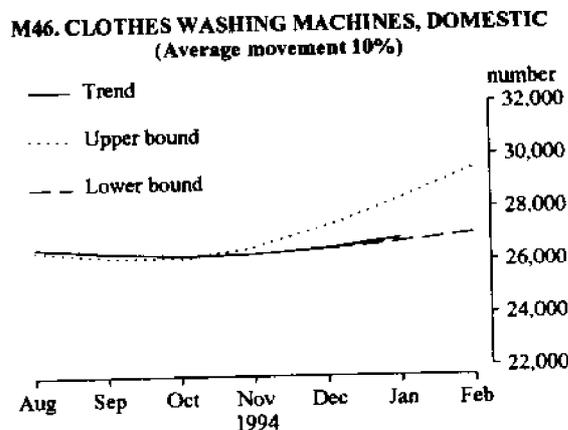

Readers should exercise care when interpreting the latest month's trend estimates because they will be revised when the next month's seasonally adjusted estimates become available. For further information, see Explanatory Notes 12 and 13.

The graph below presents the effect of two possible scenarios on the current and previous trend estimates:

Upper bound The January seasonally adjusted estimate of the production of clothes washing machines, is higher than the December seasonally adjusted estimate by 10%.

Lower bound The January seasonally adjusted estimate of the production of clothes washing machines, is lower than the December seasonally adjusted estimate by 10%.

The percentage change of 10% was chosen because the average monthly absolute percentage change for this series since January 1965 has been 10%.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Introduction

1. This publication presents monthly and quarterly estimates of production of selected major manufacturing indicators for Australia.

Scope and coverage

2. Data presented in this publication are collected from a number of different sources. The prime source is the ABS surveys of manufacturing production. Data are also obtained from surveys undertaken by the Australian Bureau of Agricultural and Resource Economics (ABARE), the Australian Dairy Corporation (ADC), the Australian Tobacco Marketing Committee and from ABS agriculture collections. Scope and coverage varies slightly depending on the source of the information.

3. Where production statistics are collected by the ABS manufacturing production surveys, they are not collected from single establishment manufacturing enterprises with fewer than four persons employed or from establishments predominantly engaged in non-manufacturing activities but which may carry out in a minor way some manufacturing. However, in general the contribution of these small producers to statistical aggregates is only marginal and data contained in this publication provide reliable information for the evaluation of movements in commodity production.

4. The statistics on meat production include data collected from abattoirs and other major slaughtering establishments and include estimates of animals slaughtered on farms and by country butchers and other small slaughtering establishments for human consumption.

5. The statistics on chicken meat have been collected from commercial poultry slaughtering establishments. Producers in the Northern Territory and Australian Capital Territory and the very small producers are excluded from the collection.

6. Data on the production of fuels, sawn timber and quarterly estimates of base metal production are obtained from Australian Bureau of Agricultural and Resource Economics publications Mineral Statistics and Forest Products Statistics.

7. Data on the production of cheese and butter are obtained from the Australian Dairy Corporation publication Dairystats, and data on tobacco and cigarettes produced are sourced from the Australian Tobacco Marketing Committee.

Comparability with other estimates

8. The ABS publishes quarterly estimates of constant price manufacturing production in the publication Quarterly Indexes of Industrial Production, Australia (8125.0). These estimates are shown as index numbers and are derived mainly from estimates of manufacturers' sales and stocks.

9. The production statistics collected monthly and quarterly referred to in paragraph 1 account, in total, for less than half of the output of the manufacturing sector, so differences may occur between the general tendency (if there is one) in these items and changes in the quarterly indexes of industrial production.

Seasonally adjusted and trend estimates

10. Seasonally adjusted statistics are shown for most of the data items contained in this publication. In the seasonal adjustment, account has been taken not only of normal seasonal factors, but also where appropriate, of 'working day' effects (arising from the varying numbers of Sundays, Mondays, Tuesdays, etc. in the month) and the influence of Easter and Australia Day which may, in successive years, affect figures for different months. Details of the methods used in seasonally adjusting these series are available on request.

11. Seasonal adjustment procedures do not aim to remove the irregular or non-seasonal influences which may be present in any particular month, such as the effect of strikes, holiday shutdowns or other factors which vary with the prevailing demand for products. Irregular influences that are highly volatile can make it difficult to interpret the movement of the series even after seasonal adjustment.

12. The smoothing of seasonally adjusted series to create trend estimates is a means of reducing the impact of the irregular component of the series. The trend estimates have been derived by applying a 13-term Henderson weighted moving average to the seasonally adjusted series.

13. While this smoothing technique enables estimates of trend to be produced for the latest month, it does result in revisions to the estimates for the most recent months as data for subsequent months become available. Generally subsequent revisions become smaller and after 3 months have little impact on the series. There will also be revisions as a result of revisions to the original estimates and annual reviews of seasonal and 'working day' factors.

14. Users may wish to refer to the ABS Information Paper A Guide to Interpreting Time Series - Monitoring Trends, an overview (1348.0) for more detailed information on smoothing of seasonally adjusted time series data.
