TRAINING AND EDUCATION EXPERIENCE — CONFIDENTIALISED UNIT RECORD FILE

Introduction

This publication provides information concerning the sample file on magnetic media which contains unit record data from the training component of the 1993 Survey of Training and Education. This file, called the Training and Education Experience Confidentialised Unit Record File (CURF), is now available.

2. The Survey of Training and Education, conducted throughout Australia during April and May 1993, obtained information on training and education undertaken by persons during the preceding 12 months. The survey expands on the 1989 How Workers Get Their Training survey, in terms of both scope and content.

3. The survey included persons aged 15 to 64 years who had worked as wage or salary earners ('employees') in the last 12 months as well as those who, at the time of the survey, were employers, self-employed, unemployed or marginally attached to the labour force.

4. The survey was conducted over six weeks, with an initial sample of around 18,600 dwellings. After allowing for sample loss (e.g. households selected in the sample had no residents in scope for the survey, derelict buildings, buildings under construction, etc.), the effective sample was some 12,600 dwellings, which yielded approximately 24,500 completed interviews. Of these, some 3,500 were not in scope for the training component of the survey.

5. Estimates from the training component of the survey, as well as more information on definitions and methodology, are published in Training and Education Experience, Australia, 1993 (Cat. No. 6278.0).

6. As well as the publication and the CURF, State Tables and an extensive range of unpublished data are available. Inquiries should be directed to Bob McCombe on (06) 252 6660.

Release of the data

7. The release of the data is possible under the Census and Statistics Act 1905, which has provision for the release of data in the form of unit records where 'the information is not likely to enable the identification of a particular person or organisation'. Accordingly, there are no names or addresses of survey respondents on the CURF and the detail for some data items has been suppressed or reduced to ensure that the confidentiality of individuals is protected.

8. The CURF will only be provided under certain conditions of issue (specified in the Licence Conditions on pages 50 to 52). Subject to the limitations of sample size and the data classifications used, it is possible for you to manipulate the data, produce tabulations and undertake statistical analyses to your own specifications.

Magnetic media formats

9. The CURF is available on:

- Magnetic tape (see pages 4 to 12).
- Floppy disk (see page 4).

File and record structure

10. The CURF is distributed on either a single reel of magnetic tape or on floppy disk, and contains four files associated with the survey:

- File 1 is a series of 20,889 person records. Each record is 1,190 characters long.
- File 2 is a 'print file' in that it contains standard ANSI control characters. You may print this file to obtain extensive documentation about the data in File 1.
- File 3 is a compressed and formatted version of File 2 which you may load into your system for ADP purposes. Each record in this file contains 148 bytes. The basic difference between Files 2 and 3 is that, in File 3, the carriage return (printer control) character and superfluous blank characters have been removed, and fields have been placed in specific positions within the records, together with identifiers to enable interpretation. Further information is provided with the CURF.
- File 4 is a copyright warning file.

Using the data

Classifications

11. Some changes have been made to data items to avoid the release of identifiable information, viz:

- the NT, ACT and Tasmania have been collapsed into one category.
- Some data items have been deleted (see page 49).

12. The data items which are on the CURF are listed, starting on page 13.

Effects of sampling

13. As the survey was conducted on a sample of all households in Australia, it is important to take account of the method of sample selection when deriving estimates from the CURF. This is particularly important as a person's chance of selection in the survey varied depending on the State or Territory or, in some cases, area of State/Territory in which s/he lived.

14. One of the fields on the CURF contains a 'weight' for each person in the sample. This 'weight' takes account of a person's probability of selection in the sample from their region, with an adjustment to account for underenumeration.

15. If estimates of population sub-groups are to be derived from the CURF, it is essential that they are calculated by adding the weights of persons in each category and not just by counting the number falling into each category. If each person's 'weight' were to be ignored, then no account would be taken of the fact that a person's chance of being selected in the survey varied from region to region and the resulting estimates would be seriously biased.

Estimation procedure

16. Estimates derived from the survey are obtained by using a complex ratio estimation procedure, which ensures that the survey estimates conform to an independently estimated distribution of the population by age and sex, rather than to the age and sex distribution within the sample itself. Further information on how to use the data is provided with the CURF.

Sampling errors

17. Any statistics produced from the CURF will be subject to sampling errors. Tables of standard errors (which are a measure of sampling error) are provided with the CURF.

Reconciliation with published data

18. As a result of the steps that have been taken to preserve confidentiality, it is not possible to exactly reconcile some data produced from the CURF with published data.

Secondary Providers

19. The term 'secondary provider' applies to any person or organisation who obtains data from the ABS and then disseminates products to a third party where the major component of such products is statistical data obtained from the ABS. Persons or organisations preparing consultant or research reports that rely on ABS data are not usually regarded as secondary providers where research and analysis is the major component of the reports.

20. However, if you are likely to be providing data from the CURF to others, please contact Bob McCombe on (06) 252 6660 to discuss your usage/obligations before completing the order form.

Charges

21. The price for the CURF, as at October 1994, is listed on the order form (see pages 53 to 56). The price includes freight and handling charges to a destination within Australia. Overseas customers are required to pay the appropriate freight charge.

22. Additional charges apply to 'secondary providers'. For further information, please contact the ABS.

Conditions of issue

23. The CURF is released under strict conditions. Prior to completing the CURF order form, you should carefully read the Licence Conditions described on pages 50 to 52.

24. The CURF is released in accordance with a Ministerial Determination (Clause 7, Statutory Rules 1983, No. 19) (see page 58) in pursuance of Section 13 of the Census and Statistics Act 1905. As required by the Determination, the CURF has been designed so that the information on the file will not enable the identification of the particular persons to which it relates.

25. In pursuance of Clause 7, the Determination requires you to sign an Undertaking (see page 57) that the information will be used for statistical purposes only.

26. Use of data for statistical purposes means use, by the person or organisation who has given the Undertaking, to produce information of a statistical nature. Examples of statistical purposes are:

- the manipulation of the data to produce means, correlations or other descriptive or summary measures;
- the estimation of population characteristics from sample data;
- the use of data as input to mathematical models or for other types of analysis (e.g. factor analysis); and
- to provide graphical or pictorial representations of the characteristics of the population or subsets of the population.

27. Use of the data for improper purposes may render you liable to severe penalties. For further information about the propriety of any particular intended use of the data, please contact the ABS.

28. Note that access to any of the data or files on the CURF is restricted to the person or organisation who has given the Undertaking. Other potential users of the data must therefore make separate application to the ABS.

29. Should you wish to change the Licence Conditions in any way, you will need to discuss your intended changes with Bob McCombe (in the first instance).

30. While the utmost care is taken in preparing and handling each CURF, deterioration may occur between the time of copying and receipt of the tape. Accordingly, if the tape is unreadable on receipt and this is reported to the ABS within 30 days of receipt, it will be recopied free of charge. As an added precaution, a security copy ('backup') of the tape should be made on receipt.

How to order

31. Please submit your orders on the form provided on pages 53 to 56. The order form, which asks for your formatting requirements etc., should be completed with the assistance of someone with technical knowledge of the computer system to be used to process the files.

32. Please ensure that the Licence Conditions and the Undertaking are signed by someone authorised to sign legal documents on behalf of your organisation and that a copy of each is retained by your organisation.

33. Note that we can not process your order unless we have received your payment together with fully completed and signed Order Form, Undertaking and Licence Conditions.

34. Please forward these documents, along with your payment for the appropriate amount to:

CONFIDENTIALISED UNIT RECORD FILE (CURF) FORMATS

MAGNETIC TAPE FORMATS

Tape specifications

All data on magnetic tape from household sample surveys are supplied from the ABS Canberra office and encoded by a FACOM M780 computer. All tapes are of standard dimensions (730m x 12.7mm) and use 9 tracks.

Tape labelling conventions

Three labelling options are available:

- FACOM Standard Label (same as IBM Standard Label). A label block consists of an 80 character EBCDIC coded fixed format record prefixed as for Australian Standard Labels but with some fields containing different information. However, the contents of the main fields are the same as for ANSI X3.27 labels. For a complete description, see pages 5 to 10;
- Australian Standard Label (ANSI X3.27 - 1978 and AS 1068 - 1971). A label block consists of an 80 character ASCII coded fixed format record prefixed by the characters VOL1, HDR or EOF. For a complete description, see pages 11 and 12; and
- Unlabelled.

Note: All data files labelled and unlabelled will be encoded using either ASCII or EBCDIC Code Sets and will be blocked. The last file of data will be terminated by two consecutive tape marks. Although the ABS can supply unlabelled tapes from the M780 computer, the practice is strongly discouraged.

Recording densities

There are two recording densities available, and these are phase encoded 63 RPmm (1600 BPI) and 246 RPmm (6250 BPI).

Code sets

Two code sets are available:

- ASCII Code Set (AS1776 - 1975) which requires a minimum of 7 bits for representation. ABS always writes this code in 8 bit representation with the high order bit set to zero. This code cannot be represented on tapes with FACOM Standard Labels; and
- EBCDIC Code Set. The ABS always writes this code in 8 bit representation. This code will not be represented on tapes with ANSI labels.

Block sizes

The block sizes, which can only be allocated by the ABS, will be as close as possible to 2048 characters. This is the maximum block size allowed for ANSI labelled tapes.

Provision of magnetic tapes

The CURF will be supplied on ABS tapes. These tapes are certified 730m x 12.7mm new tapes.

Initialising arrangements for magnetic tapes

All tapes will be initialised by the ABS under its Tape Management System (TMS). Labelled tapes will be allocated volume serial numbers (VSNs) by the ABS and hardcopy of the label details will be supplied to you. You may specify an expiry date on the order form. Unlabelled tapes can also be provided.

ABS recommended tape option

The ABS recommends that the data be provided on 9 track tapes which are FACOM Standard labelled and written at 246 RPmm (6250 BPI) using the EBCDIC code set.

FLOPPY DISK FORMATS

If you choose to obtain the data on floppy disks, to enable processing of the data on IBM or IBM compatible microcomputers, the data files will be provided on a series of appropriately labelled disks, in a highly compressed format. Public domain software, together with associated documentation, will be provided to enable you to de-compress the files into the same format as would normally be provided on magnetic tape, and as such, would reflect the documentation provided in this publication.

MAGNETIC TAPE VOLUME AND DATA SET LABELS

Section A — FACOM Standard Labels (same as IBM Standard Labels)

Each label is one 80-byte record containing various attributes of the data set or reel. EBCDIC code is used.

There are five kinds of labels, as shown in Figure 1.

(same as IBM Standard Labels)

Volume label

One volume label exists as the first block on each reel. This label contains the volume serial number (VSN), owner name, and other data pertinent to this reel. A volume label is characterized by its first four characters: VOL1.

Header labels

Two header labels are written at the front of each file: header label 1 (HDR1) and the header label 2 (HDR2). The former contains an identification of this file, the latter contains various attributes.

Trailer labels

Two trailer labels are written at the end of each file: trailer label 1 (EOF1) and trailer label 2 (EOF2). As can be seen from Figure 1, header and trailer labels are paired for each file on the volume. Trailer labels are quite similar to header labels, since reel processing does not always start from the front of a file, for example, when reading backwards.

Note: Reserved - all blank

Standard volume label format:

Refer to Figure 2.

- 1 Label name.
Indicates that the label is a volume label; always 'VOL'.
- 2 Label number.
This is the sequence number of the volume label. There is only one volume label for a standard label reel; hence, its sequence number is always '1'.
- 3 Volume serial number (VSN).
One to six EBCDIC characters. Used to cite a specific volume. Externally readable label on the reel should agree with this serial number for operating convenience.
- 4 Owner name.
Arbitrary identifier of up to ten EBCDIC characters.

ANSI labels have basically the same format as FACOM standard labels. There are some differences in positions of fields in VOL1 and HDR1. HDR3 and subsequent header labels are not used. All ANSI labels and data are recorded in ASCII code at a recording density of 63 RPmm (1600 BPI) or 246 RPmm (6250 BPI).

LIST OF POPULATIONS AND DATA ITEMS

This section specifies the data items, categories and populations which will be on the 1993 Training and Education Experience CURF.

Ensuring that the CURF is compatible with a variety of non-ABS systems has meant changes to the way some data items are structured. Consequently, the data item numbers on the following pages are similar, but not identical to, the data item numbers given in Training and Education Experience, Australia, 1993 (Cat. No. 6278.0).

Most of the changes to data item numbers relate to data items with multi-response categories. In these cases, a data item number has been allocated for each category (as opposed to one data item number for the combined data item). An example of how these are shown in the data item list is:

to TRG40224

In a few cases, the data item number is completely different. An example of how these are shown in the data item list is:

EDN40960
in 6278.0)

Data was collected on up to 4 in-house courses and/or up to 4 external courses. The data item numbers relating to individual training courses end with an 'A' for the first (main) course, a 'B' for the second course, a 'C' for the third course, and a 'D' for the fourth course. An example of how these are shown in the data item list is:

TRI40119A
to TRI40119D

'Level of qualification' and 'Field of study' data items that are broadly comparable with the classifications in the 1989 How Workers Get Their Training publication are included on the CURF. These data items have '(HWGTT)' as the last word of the data item label.

The populations listed below are the main populations for the survey and will be on, or derivable from, the CURF. There are also additional populations included on the CURF to facilitate analysis. More information about the populations is provided with the CURF.

As each person or organisation will have their own processing system, with differing system limits, the CURF data item labels are provided in a single-line character string i.e. no hierarchical structure. However, in this publication, the structure of each data item is shown - both to facilitate your analysis by providing you with the relationship between the categories of a data item, and to facilitate comparisons with Training and Education Experience, Australia, 1993 (Cat. No. 6278.0).
