Australian Bureau of Statistics

Updating ANZSCO

Shape the future of ANZSCO to meet your information needs

ANZSCO supports a wide range of user needs

Skilled Migration & Immigration

Used to develop skilled migration occupation lists to assist with visa programs.

Vocational Education & Training

Used to map skills, qualifications, and occupational outcomes to develop nationally recognised training.

Policy Development & Planning

Used to support formulation of policies and programs that address skill shortages in the workforce.

Labour Market Analysis

Used to produce statistics for the analysis of labour market trends and workforce planning.

Occupational Health & Safety

Used to compile occupational hazard information to assess impacts on occupational health and safety.

Public Health

Used in the analysis of job-related injuries, diseases and fatalities to determine health risk-factors.

Have your say

Get involved and make sure your views on arts and recreation occupations are heard.

Have any jobs in your industry evolved, been replaced or introduced because of changes in technology? Have skill requirements changed over time?

Public consultation is open until 5 December 2023 for the comprehensive review of the Australian and New Zealand Standard Classification of Occupations (ANZSCO).

Find out more about Updating ANZSCO at www.abs.gov.au/about/consultation-and-conferences/updating-anzsco